

Joy (and Brooks {2017})

Joy (L) and Brooks (R)

Both of my dogs were adopted through the Dalmatian Rescue through communications with Sandy Fuller and Paula Barkley. Brooks came to me in March of 2017. After going for a visit to Paula's father, I was given the opportunity to bring Joy to my home – October 2019. Both dogs are doing well. Brooks is still the king of wiggle and smiles. Joy has had some adjustments to overcome, but she is settling down and is becoming a true member of the household. Brooks just wants to play, and Joy often get him into a game of chase. I take them both for walks in the neighborhood (separate as they are at different levels), we play fetch in the yard, they are managing to keep the rabbits and squirrels alert, and they go on hikes on the Mountain to Sea trail with me. They both are very confident/secure in their space and don't even react to the barking dogs next door. Thanks to both Paula and Sandy for letting these two wonderful creatures come into my life.

I love playing with my toys!

But I love my toys more!!

Time to stop and smell the roses.
