

Hawk

(aka Marshall)

Marshall (now Hawk) is a gem and a half! He's got a cumulative of an hour's worth of puppy a day in him, otherwise he roams the house "velcroed", in true Dal fashion, to our sides or sitting at our feet while we cook or relax. He's learning his manners faster than I ever expected (no jumping on counters, getting in the trash, snatching food, etc.) and lets our toddler walk him around the house on leash. Our toddler also tripped on him once tumbling completely over him and Hawk just graciously caught him.

He's truly a one in a million dog and we are so fortunate to share our home with him. Thank you for pulling him out of the shelter and allowing him to join our family. :)

Dinner time... YUMMY!!!

I know there's food in that big white box. Why won't they give me some of it?

I like being in the yard with the little human!
